MARKET COMMENTARY

PSEi : 5,928.45, YTD : -24.14%

For the month of July, PSEi declined by -4.50% or -279.27 pts to end at 5,928.45 pts. due to concerns on record highs of COVID-19 cases in the Philippines and renewed regulatory risks which caused most investors to stay on the sidelines. Foreigners continued to be net sellers with a total of Php6.075B for the month, lower than June's Php9.5B. They also have been less active with only 42% market participation compared to locals' 58% participation.

Record-breaking rise of COVID-19 cases was July's main theme as daily new cases have more than doubled to an average of 1,650 daily new cases, which spooked investors on the possible reimplementation of a stricter lockdown in Metro Manila. Investors anticipated President Duterte's decision on the country's quarantine status.

On the macro front, OFW Remittances suffered its biggest drop in almost two decades, by -16.2% to US$2.046B in April due to job losses from the pandemic. Budget deficit accelerated by 1,214% to $11.2B amid lower tax revenues coupled with increased COVID-19 related-expenses. Moreover, inflation was up to 2.5% YoY from 2.1% from June.

First Metro asset remains cautious on the near term as there are no clear signs that the economy is recovering amidst rising infection rate.
