MARKET COMMENTARY

PDS Summary: Close: Php48.21/USD | Low: Php48.145/USD | High: Php48.483/USD

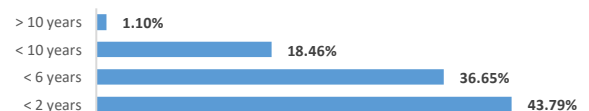

Local bond yields inched up last week (+2.1bps on avg.) as investors mostly stayed on the defensive following the release of 3Q20GDP. With worse than expected GDP (-11.5% vs -9.6% est.), market saw buying across the belly of the curve going to the 10Y. Buying activity was fleeting as news of a vaccine for Covid 19 reversed sentiment and sellers continued to unload risk positions (long end).

Given the selling interest seen past few days (despite worse GDP) and 5Y auction this week, market is expected to remain defensive while yields to remain rangebound w/ upward bias. Strategy: Despite weak GDP, BSP will probably pause in cutting rates for Nov. 19 and make a move next year.
