MARKET UPDATE

•The PSEI fell flattish for the month of June by -0.3% MoM to 6,412 level due to higher-for-longer interest rates and peso weakness. The bearish levels throughout Q2 reversed all gains from Q1 with a sharp decline of -7.1% QoQ, while the index fell further by -0.59% YTD.

•The BSP Monetary Board (MB) sent dovish signals to the market amid keeping policy rates at 6.50% at their 4th MB meeting for the year. The signing of EO 62, which would cut tariffs for rice imports and other agricultural products to 15% from 35% until 2028, attributed to the easing of this year's inflation outlook, signaling a possibility of a rate cut this year. BSP Governor Remolona also hinted at a possibility of cutting ahead of the Fed, influencing peso weakness. The Peso closed at PHP58.80, moving closer to a record low of PHP59.

•With a more positive market sentiment for interest rate cuts and lower inflation for the year, Property saw the biggest jump by +4.77% with ALI (+8.57%) and SMPH (+5.01%) followed by Services with a 0.49% increase MoM due to defensive counters such as CNVRG (+6.88% MoM) and GLO (+6.60% MoM). We expect the market to trade rangebound as players wait for more data that will point to an August rate cut.

•Sectors: Property +4.77%, Services +0.49%, Financials (-0.01%), Industrials (-1.67%), Holdings (-3.51%), M&O (-8.22%)
